Questions addressed and discussed during the Mar. 9, 2010 Ask Joy & Keith Teleseminar

Question from Blake
What if world events force the items on my vision board to crash and become non-applicable? How can I know the law of attraction is still working for me when it seems it is not?

Question from Chuck
I try all day to stay positive, but negative thoughts & feelings still linger. I would definitely like to know how to clean out the negativity.

Question from Maja
How do you empty the mind of fears, hates, insecurities, regrets, & guilt?

Question from Corinna
Can you explain the paradox between letting things ebb and flow in your life versus purposely creating them?

Question from Theodore
I'm turning 50 this week. I do not really like my job. I've been divorced (was married to a psychopath, who physically, emotionally and sexually abused me.) I have 3 beautiful children, but my son didn't speak to me for 3 years. I have financial problems, more than I can handle. WHY ME? Do I attract it to me? I always try to be good to people. I have a bubbly personality, but I get depressed some days. Sometimes I don't understand myself.

Question from Grace
How do you step out on your vision when you have others that depend on you for monetary support?

Question from Bhagya
When you are deep in love with someone and really want to marry him, and when you always wish that to become true, but when he thinks negatively and gives hundreds of reasons for it not to happen even though he likes you - How does the law of attraction work between two people who think differently? And how do you stay strong without any worries?

Question from P. Jones
How do you get yourself back into a study routine to complete certification when you have personal distractions in your life such as relationship issues?
